What you see from here changed greatly over time

From freshly logged hillside [above] to open pasture, from a huge summer hotel to private homes screened by ever-bigger trees, this view is changing with nature and Sullivan's economy.

then...

Generations of watercraft ply the bay for business and pleasure

From this hillside, you could once spot passenger steamers ferrying passengers to Bar Harbor; tugs towing great sailing ships carrying granite, ore, lumber and fish; and private yachts headed to the playgrounds of the wealthy in Sorrento, Grindstone Neck or Bar Harbor. Today you are more apt to see working lobster boats, kayaks, pleasure yachts and sailboats.

...and now
